Union candidates in italic Democrats in roman

LINN.—A dispatch dated the 11th, states Kelly's majority at 218. We presume this to be official.

GRANT.—The Mountaineer of the 9th says: "The returns from Grant county show that the Democrats have carried the county by about 90 majority for the State ticket, and majorities ranging from 100 to 300 on the county ticket."

BAKER.—This county is reported in the Mountaineer at 68 Democratic majority.

COLUMBIA.—We correct our report from this county, as we supposed yesterday we safely might. The majority for Fay is only 9 instead of 45, Kelly's majority is only 15 instead of 45. Lane, 17; Bell, 18; O'Meara, 12; Cronin, 14; Moffett, 20. County officers, all Democratic.

JACKSON.—A telegram from Jacksonville says the official majorities on the State ticket in Jackson county are as follows: Fay, 109; Kelly, 120; Lane, 127; Bell, 135; O'Meara, 109. Whole number of votes cast for Congressman, 1,239.

NITRO-GLYCERINE.—A correspondent of the Sacramento Union, writing from New York, notices the following experiments with Nobel's new blasting oil:

> Nobel, whose name has been frequently alluded to of late in connection with nitro-glycerine, made a number of experiments yesterday with that destructive agent, in the presence of several gentlemen, in a quarry near Eighty-third street, between Eighth and Ninth avenues. The Times' reporter gives the following account of the experiments:
> "With some little trepidation we yesterday accepted an invitation from Professor Nobel to attend a gathering of scientific gentlemen on the rocky slope between Eighth and Ninth avenues, near Eighty-third street, for the purpose of witnessing a series of experiments with that fearful compound ordinarily recognized as nitro-glycerine. The Professor was provided with an abundance of the raw material in cases and bottles, also with matches, cigars, fuses, and a great deal of courage. He opened a bottle of it, permitting the fluid to run out upon the stone. He touched it with a lighted match, which caused it to ignite and burn like pitch, but not to explode. He threw a can and a bottle of it from a high rock upon the ground with impunity, showing that mere concussion would not explode it. In regard to its safe transportation, he says the proper packing insures perfect safety. It will not explode except under a heat of 360 degrees—a heat which no ordinary circumstances can generate, and his theory is that the explosions heretofore occurring has been caused by the heat generated from the sawdust in which the cans were packed—sawdust saturated with the oil from leaky cans, set on fire by an accidental spark. In order to demonstrate this, he placed a small can of the fluid in a box filled with saturated sawdust. To this he applied a lighted fuse, and in a short time the dust took fire, and ultimately an explosion followed, which, with a tremendous report, blew the box and can to flinders. He says, also, that glycerine, mixed with spirits of wood cannot be exploded, and proved it by applying a lighted fuse to the mixture. Subsequently, by withdrawing the oil from the compound—an application of water only being necessary to separate the elements—he renewed its explodable condition and demonstrated it. In many curious and intelligible ways he experimented with the material, and convinced all present that so far as the conditions there presented are concerned, nitro-glycerine is safer to handle and transport than gunpowder or camphene, while its explosive power is vastly greater. The blasting agent of the Central Park has used the oil in his work for many months, and prefers it to any other agent, and during the experiments on this occasion added his corroborative testimony to the statements of the Professor as to its efficacy and safety.
> The facts as well as the conclusions of the Herald differ somewhat from the above. According to its own experiments he says Nobel has proved that it is highly destructive and dangerous if struck with force. Also, one S. P. Ely, living in Marquette, Michigan, dissents from the assertion of Nobel that "nitro glycerine" will not explode under a temperature of less than three hundred and twenty degrees. After remarking that he had prepared some of this chemical for blasting, he adds: "The first I knew I had a tremendous explosion in my office. There was not enough of it to take the roof off, but the contents of the bottle were scattered over every square foot of wall and ceiling. I made a second trial with similar success, except that the explosion took place out of doors. The practical difficulty in the use of the compound seems to be that it can only be prepared at a very low temperature, and instantly and violently decomposes with any increase of temperature."

ASSASSINATION AS A POLITICAL ART.—The Cincinnati Gazette remarking on this subject says:

> It is now plain that there was rational method in the assassination conspiracy, and that it was a success. In the face of the fact that it had been generally agitated in the Confederacy, and always as a justifiable resort when it could be made of practical benefit to the rebel cause, it [illegible] the Surratt family, or to a few. They were mere scapegoats hurried out of the world to bear the burden of public attention. The assassins knew the man they assassinated, and the man who would come to power by it. There is not a particle of evidence that the plot included Mr. Johnson. He bore a life as charmed as John Van Buren attributes to Democratic Presidents, and so did Mr. Lincoln while Mr. Hamlin was Vice President.
> For John Van Buren to declare, upon this "counsel of the past," that no Democratic President will ever die in office, has the air of exulting over assassination as a successful Democratic art. But we make no exceptions to the assurance that Democratic Presidents—that is Presidents who are actively hostile to the North—are in no danger of being taken off during their term of office. Assassination is not a Northern art, at least not outside the Democratic party. When Mr. Johnson talked about the desire to assassinate him, he merely had on the brain the means which brought him to power.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE

TUESDAY MORNING, JUNE 12, 1866.

"Attacking the President."

The course that Andrew Johnson has pursued since he came to the Chief Magistracy is well delineated in the following extract from a recent speech in Congress by Hon E C Ingersoll, of Illinois So soon, remarks Mr Ingersoll, as Mr Johnson found himself clothed with executive power, and as soon as he had surveyed the political field, he said to the people of the South

"All my denunciations against you are nothing but gammon I am talking that for New England I never mean to carry out any of my threats against you You take care to sustain my policy, and in 1868 I will be the candidate for the Presidency I will see that none of your necks are stretched for treason; I will see that none of you suffer; I will take care of the South if you will let me humbug the Northern people by these denunciations against the offense of treason Do this and it will all come out right."

It is the habit of those who have undertaken to champion Johnson's "policy," to characterize the measures which Congress proposes for the settlement of pending political questions, as "revolutionary, proscriptive, inhuman, and in shameful contrast with the generous policy of the President." The proposition to perpetually exclude the principals in the late rebellion from holding office under the General Government, is denounced by the President's adulators as a "disgrace to Americans," and as a "stain upon our civilization." We know no reason why this proposition should be more wicked, unjust or impolitic now than it was in 1864, when Andrew Johnson said:

"I say that the traitor has ceased to be a citizen, and in joining the rebellion has become a public enemy. He forfeited his right to vote with loyal men"

It is the aim of Congress to keep the government of the recovered States in the hands of their loyal citizens. In carrying out this idea, that body is sustained by this declaration from Andrew Johnson:

"If there be but five thousand men in Tennessee loyal to the Constitution, loyal to freedom, loyal to justice, these true and faithful men should control the work of reorganization and reformation absolutely."

Just one year ago, Andrew Johnson, while in conversation with the British Minister, Sir Frederick Bruce, said:

"The time has come when traitors must be taught that they are criminals. The country has fairly made up its mind on this point; and it can find nomore earnest agent of its will than myself."

Thaddeus Stevens and others have been denounced in terms of unmeasured severity for proposing to confiscate the property of leading rebels. Hear Andrew Johnson on this matter of confiscation:

"Treason must be made odious, and traitors must be punished and impoverished. Their great plantations must be seized, and divided into small farms, and sold to honest, industrious men."

Considering what Andrew Johnson has done to punish "intelligent, influential traitors," it is edifying to read over again the subjoined extract from a speech made by him while the rebellion was in progress:

"In my opinion evil doers should be punished. Treason is the highest crime known in the catalogue of crimes and for him that is guilty of it, for him that is willing to lift his impious hand against the authority of the nation, I would say, death is too easy a punishment. My notion is that treason must be made odious and traitors must be punished and impoverished; their social power must be broken, and they must be made to feel the penalty of their crimes. Hence I say the halter to intelligent, influential traitors."

It was the utterance of these and similar sentiments that caused rebels and rebel sympathizers to pour out upon the head of Andrew Johnson the full vials of their wrath for the space of five years. Why are they now, without an exception, praising him for his wisdom and generosity, and condemning others for still holding the same sentiments which he proclaimed then? Is it Andrew Johnson who has changed, or is it his newly found friends? Somebody has shifted positions. Either the Democratic party which used to denounce him as a traitor and scoundrel of the deepest [illegible] wonderful metamorphosis in Mr. Johnson. It is not difficult to decide this question or to tell who has undergone this wonderful change.

Andrew Johnson is on the record in support of every measure which Congress proposes for the restoration of the revolted States. He would punish traitors. So would Congress. He would withhold the ballot from them. This is more than Congress would do. He would give loyal men the best possible security, and establish them in absolute control over the recovered States. This is all Congress requires. And if we do not support the President it is not our fault. We heartily endorsed his views as expressed before his election to the Vice Presidency and we endorse them still. And if it is an "attack on the President" to commend the opinions which he has so often expressed, we hope the blame of the "attack" will be thrown upon the party to whom it properly belongs. It is no fault of the people or of Congress that Mr. Johnson's conduct is so inconsistent that a re-publication of his former speeches is a "violent attack" upon his "generous policy of re-construction."

The Herald's Figures.—The Herald of the 11th published election figures showing Colonel Kelly to be 207 votes ahead of Mr. Woods, upon official and reported returns. If the Herald's manner of counting should be adopted by the Legislature, Kelly would be next Governor in spite of an official majority for his competitor For instance, Clackamas is given at 110 majority for Woods—the Clerk of that county puts it at 122. Marion is given at 540—the official return is 547. Polk is given at 15 for Kelly—the real majority is 5. Tillamook is given, 17 for Kelly—the Clerk of that county says Woods' majority is 2.

If the Herald's figures on reported returns are as wide of the mark as in the instances cited above, that 207 majority for Kelly will soon melt into something less than nothing under the test of official returns. There is nothing surprising in the statement, inaccurately, of reported majorities, but official figures cannot well be stretched in that manner so as to accomplish the election of a defeated candidate. By a little more liberal stretching of the figures, the Herald might send Fay to Congress—if they would only stay stretched.

The Vote for Governor.—Since our issue of yesterday, we have received information which alters the general result on Governor, as follows: From the figures we gave as reported majorities, we lose in Linn thirty-five, Grant 10, Baker three and Jackson five—all reported merely—making a total of fifty-three. We have gained in Columbia thirty. Balance against Woods, twenty-three, which reduces his majority, according to our estimate, to seventy-five. Only a small part of the State is yet officially returned, but giving the Democrats six hundred and sixteen east of the mountains—which is correct according to our information—the balance of the State is returned so precisely as to warrant us in claiming the election of Mr. Woods by the majority above mentioned.

The Democratic organ in this city says that "forty-three votes are reported to have been given by soldiers in Grant county, which are without legal authority" Of course; none but Price's veterans are allowed to vote in this election What legal or other right have the loyal soldier boys of Oregon to vote against the ragamuffin guerrillas of the late Confederacy? But won't the Herald's friends have a good time throwing the votes of Oregon's patriotic soldiers out of the official count? Try it by all means, 'twill be so easy to do it you are sure to succeed!

"M. H Abbott," from whose writings in the Pike County Democrat we have quoted liberally during the past two months, has retired from his position as "responsible" editor of the Herald to make room for Beriah Brown Oregon will try to bear the infliction.

Rev P S Knight's church Congregational at Oregon City, has recently been furnished with a new organ bought by subscription, and the proceeds of a festival lately held

The Mountaineer says From parties who arrived by the stage we learn that the mines continue to pay well particularly those of Olive Creek Several rich strikes have been made, and the people of that locality think that Olive is the mining camp of this upper country

A row occurred at Olive Creek precinct on election day, which resulted in a general fight and closing of the polls But more than one-half the citizens had voted, and it was rumored that the vote of the precinct would be thrown out in counting the votes

The ladies of Lancaster, Lane county, are to hold a fair on Wednesday, 13th the proceeds of which is to be devoted to the benefit of orphans of the late war

A festival held by the ladies of Eugene City for the benefit of the M. E. Church, realized $60

The State Journal says "Last Saturday evening as soon as it was known how the election had resulted in this county, some of the copperheads gave vent to their feelings in such remarks as the following. 'Hurrah for hell,' 'Bully for the devil,' 'Hurrah for Jeff Davis!'"

Robert S Reid, a soldier of the war of 1812, died near Eugene City, on the 5th inst, at the age of seventy years.

Montana News.

From the Montana Post, of May 19th, we take the following

THE HESLER LODE.

This fine piece of quartz property is now under way of thorough development The Foster mill (24 stamp) will soon be up from the river, where it has lain all winter, and will be located on this lode, which is right in a gulch below Summit. The timbers are being got out, and there are no better men than the two Fosters to execute the mill-wrighting.

MACHINERY COMING

The various testimony we receive about mills and machinery is all corroborative of the fact of the shipment, in every conceivable way, of bullion-saving apparatus for Montana A large number are coming overland.

SILVER BOW GULCH

We are glad to report the claims on Silver Bow Gulch are rising rapidly in value, on account of striking the real pay channel and the discovery of auriferous deposits on the bars lining the creek. A company of eight men are now engaged on a ditch which will supply water for the sluicing of about 1 200 acres of dry diggings, lying between Brown's Gulch and Silver Bow Creek There is a fine prospect obtainable at the very surface of the ground. All the company, and those outsiders who have prospected the ground, feel sure that it will yield from $25 to $35 per day to the hand A friend of ours, owning an eighth interest in the ditch, was offered $800 in [illegible] for his share before he had sold a single dollar of assessment

A FIFTY STAMP MILL.

A 50-stamp mill is now on the road to Mill Creek from the States. It takes a long string of animals to haul such a machine; but the clatter of the stamps will make merry music, when the "who a goo" Omaha t of the propelling department is heard no more

RICH PAY FROM WISCONSIN GULCH.

Bill Fairweather has struck it again. His hydraulics at Wisconsin Gulch are paying The first clean up was one hundred ounces to a fortnight's run, the second time, the weather was favorable and all in working trim, therefore, in four days one hundred and fifty six ounces were washed out This is pretty well for poor folks; nearly as good as $2 a day, with a wife and six children, in the States. He is to be seen in town, buckskins and all, no style, and placidly happy.

RUSH OF IMMIGRATION.

A reliable gentleman who reached town on Tuesday night last, stated that between this city and Salt Lake, there are one thousand wagons, and that strung out on the road from Fort Hall, there are at least eight hundred pack animals that have come through from California, Nevada and Idaho The burden of our exchanges is still the same—a constant string of animals and crowds of passengers traveling by Concord coach, on horse, mule or jack-back, per hand cart express, and in hundreds of instances, by shank's mare

The first pack train from the West, through to this city, came in on Thursday, in good time, in charge of Rudolph Mohr Ten animals laden with rubber boots, came from Idaho City, by way of Boise and Umatilla Landing, on the Columbia The train drove by the Mullan trail, and occupied in its passage 26 days of actual travel, with two "lay-overs," of a day each. The length of the route, as per journal, is 515 miles

THE VIGILANTES AWAKE

The guardians of the public peace still watch with lynx eyed vigilance over the Territory. Two cases are mentioned as having been summarily dealt with by them One was a diabolical, though futile, attempt at outrage of the person of a little girl of eight years, and another was the punishment of a veteran confidence, a forger and States' prison bird of Eastern notoriety, whose last of a series of confessed rogueries was the robbery and defrauding of a helpless widow Flogging was the punishment in both cases, we are informed, coupled with restitution in the latter case. When a man wears a rogue's certificate, it is as effective, marked on his back, as any where else, and it will not rub off Every rogue his own recorder, just fits a mountain country

DELIGHTFUL WEATHER

For the past week the weather has been really delightful—balmy as the breezes of the sunny South The mountains that look down upon Alder Gulch are clothed with a verdure most welcome as it is most unusual Sometimes a pale faced sufferer, frozen whilst tramping in the cold wintry weather to one of the numerous gulches of our northern and western sections may be seen in our towns, and along the line of road leading to Sun river and Helena, whose grateful look and renovating health test the invigorating power of sunshine.

THE MARKETS.

Since our last report the market has steadily declined, in some goods almost fifty per cent, and no demand at those figures. Some few trains are arriving from Salt Lake and the valley, laden with staple groceries and produce The past week has been one of the dullest the market has ever seen Flour has been sold as low as $10 per sack, with but one exception this is the lowest figure flour has ever been sold at in Montana Bacon unchanged, lard dull; sugars are lower, coffee, declined candles dull, tobacco, declined 25 cents, and in but little demand

Southern Loyalty.—Is it supposed by the North, that the issue of the war has had the slightest effect in disturbing any Southern man's faith or convictions as to the rights of the States in relation to the Federal Union, as entertained by all the leading Southern statesmen? Is it supposed by Congress or the North that in yielding to the power of the United States Government and proclaiming itself submissive in future to the Government, the opinion of the South is so changed as now to prompt their preference of that Government over that which they decreed for themselves in the establishment of the South Confederacy?

Since President Johnson has proclaimed the people of the South to be well and loyally disposed, a profession of loyalty like the above, which we take from a recent number of the Charleston South Carolinian, may be of interest.

A private letter from Tillamook says "We have whipped the Blacks to death in this county but the majority is not given.—Herald, 11th

The "majority" being 11 for Mallory and 9 for Woods, we are inclined to think the "Blacks" could very well afford to be "whipped to death" in the same way all over the State We are only sorry they were not

Prosecuting Attorneys Elected.—1st District—James R Neil (D) 2d District—J F Watson (U). 3d District—P C. Sullivan (U) 4th District—M P Mulkey (U) 5th District—James H Slater (D)

Contest in Polk County – We hear that every defeated candidate in Polk county intends to contest, most of them on the ground of illegal voting out of precincts in which voters resided.

Brownlow and Johnson —The following story, which went the rounds of the newspapers several years ago, may be revived with interest at the present time

Not more than four years ago Andrew Johnson (popularly called "Andy") now in the United States Senate, was the Democratic candidate for Governor of Tennessee against Gentry American Parson Brownlow, the "fighting Methodist" of the Knoxville Whig, had gone over with the remnant of the Whig party to the Know Nothings and was the warm partisan of Gentry East man as the conductor of the leading Democratic Journal was of course, with Johnson, and, as was his wont, gave the opposition vigorous blows. Gentry was defeated, but in honor of his "brave associates," partners of his toils he celebrated the event by a grand supper, at which Brownlow was present When the company had got pretty deep into their cups and were going rather [illegible] the Parson (who happened to be a teetotaler,) thought he had better retire and was making a move to that effect, when he was stopped by Gentry with the observation that, no minister of the gospel should come into his house and enjoy his hospitality and go off without praying in the family Brownlow felt the rebuke and at once set about his duty He read a chapter in the Bible sang a hymn and commenced a prayer He prayed for Gentry, and his household and friends, for the welfare of Tennessee, of the National Confederacy, the American Eagle and the Star Spangled Banner, for Christendom and heathendom for the Universe and rest of their kind And "finally" said the Parson, we pray Thee, O Lord, if it be possible in the plentitude of Thy infinite mercy, to pardon and save Andy Johnson and E. G. Eastman!" "Stop! stop!" exclaimed Gentry, "don't let him do it—it will exhaust the plan of salvation!"

"Nigger" on the Brain.—Democrats sometimes say that Republicans think of nothing but the negro, and talk of nothing else In two brief "leaders in the New York Day Book, (Copperhead,) of recent date, the word "negro" occurred sixty three times! and the word "nigger" thirteen times, making seventy six times in all. Such an instance of "negro on the brain" cannot be found among Republicans The case is incurable.—Flag

An Idaho Item.—The Avalanche furnishes the following item

"Pat Flynn and others arrived last Sunday from this district of country Found gold everywhere. Many places would pay from four to five dollars per day, Found nothing they would term a 'big thing.' Three days journey this side they met Jack Sinclair and party, of thirty men They had plenty of provisions and would give the country a good prospect. A great many anticipate a rich strike in that region We will note results"

Steamer Fidelity. — [illegible] Fidelity, as will be seen by advertisement, leaves this afternoon at [illegible] o'clock [illegible] the occasion of [illegible] a large vessel [illegible] part of city [illegible] of under the [illegible] foreign built [illegible] the port [illegible] of this port and [illegible] to the belief that the [illegible] then the great bulk [illegible] shore First [illegible] in the case [illegible] an American register [illegible] her present [illegible] American [illegible] was purchased [illegible] wreck [illegible] such great expense [illegible] by law [illegible] from American [illegible] being wool and [illegible] American register [illegible] we trust [illegible] design her for [illegible] trade between Portland [illegible] permanently [illegible] England for the purpose [illegible] Africa coast, and when [illegible] be very fast. She was brought [illegible] port for towing [illegible] useful until [illegible] length, 10 [illegible] feet [illegible] beam [illegible] the hold [illegible]

The Weather. — [illegible] noted whose [illegible] we must say that yesterday between [illegible] and between 12 o'clock [illegible] the weather was a perfect [illegible] spring. The rainy season at those hours [illegible] and [illegible] quite sure that we would predict warm [illegible] and should advise our lady friends [illegible] make calculations for taking down their parlor and dining room stoves and [illegible] them to hang [illegible] However [illegible] a bit, it may be [illegible] general expectation [illegible] you may be obliged to put up the stoves again. We have a dislike [illegible] and we [illegible] wish to entail upon others what we fear so ourself [illegible] careful [illegible] to confirm this [illegible] to prognosticate coming events. There — that — this very instant it is raining. When we began to write [illegible] a cloud was to be seen [illegible] the horizon. But we realize how quick the skies can become clouded and transform the warm bright rays of [illegible] heavy descending rain. Speaking of the weather — this State is no exception. In California they have thus far had their ups and downs — particularly the latter — and [illegible] with regard to the approaching harvest. The rains are interfering with the grain crops of our sister State [illegible] papers there say [illegible] a prize. [illegible] but if the [illegible] the rust in [illegible] large crops before harvest and during [illegible]

The Ladies' Fair. — The ladies of Trinity Parish were [illegible] employed yesterday at Oro Fino Hall arranging for the festival which is to take place this evening. Their efforts deserve much encouragement, and we trust there will be a good attendance to-night. Donations of [illegible], fruit, cake, etc., etc., will be thankfully received at the Hall to-day by a committee of the ladies. Persons should be liberal in their contributions in this instance as the object is worthy, and the untiring energies of the ladies who have the fair in charge deserve reward. To those who are at all familiar with the pleasure attainable at an affair of this kind it were useless to say a single word; but to those who are not we would say, by all means attend and learn from actual experience how easy [illegible] pleasant evening and at the same time contribute to [illegible] object. [illegible] Flora and her attendants, Ceres and [illegible] as well as the gods and goddesses of music, painting (even to the kitchen) will be represented and [illegible] to please. The ladies of Portland are [illegible] noted for the style and quality of such entertainments, and especially so are those of Trinity. Everybody will certainly go, and will certainly enjoy themselves.

The Nicolson Pavement. — The work of putting down the Nicolson pavement on First street is progressing very rapidly and satisfactorily. But one block is to be finished in the north section to make the street complete to [illegible]. As soon as that is done the workmen there [illegible] to Salmon street and commence running [illegible] they meet the present work as it progresses [illegible] all hands will be removed to [illegible] and by beginning at [illegible] street and Coireet [illegible] Front street immediately. It is thought that but [illegible] will be necessary to complete Front street, [illegible] will be completed entire between [illegible] The enhancement of the value of property is readily observed along the line of this improvement as it progresses. New buildings are projected [illegible] many localities on the improved streets, and in some instances old ones, hardly tenable, are spoken for before [illegible] in the inclinations is fairly cold.

Circuit Court. — E. D. Shattuck, Judge. — June term of [illegible] June 11th. Court met at 10 o'clock A. M. The following Grand Jury was empaneled: F. A. Clark, foreman; John Terwilliger, George Hamilton, Richard [illegible] W. Nottage, O. D. Birch, Lewis Gill. — The following trial jury was appointed: J. P. Healing, [illegible] Gaill, J. D. Tackelbury, J. H. Stalland, John [illegible], William Mason, D. O. Harrington, William [illegible], W. F. Wilcox, Isaac Williams, L. O. Williams, [illegible] Lewison, J. M. O. Kallie, Lloyd Brooke [illegible] Raleigh, judgment for $175 31 coin, and $74 5[illegible] currency. — A. C. Gibbs & Co. vs. John W. Kern, coin [illegible] for $1 131. — James W. Going vs. War Eagle [illegible] Silver Mining Company, judgment for $240. — [illegible] W. McKay vs. Samuel Farnam, judgment for $1,602 99 and decree of foreclosure for sale of block 23, Couch's addition to Portland.

Board of Delegates. — The board of delegates of the Portland fire department met last night at the Council Chamber, President Hallock in the chair. Sundry applications for exempt certificates were received and referred to the appropriate committee. A deed for block five, in the Crawford Cemetery, conveying that description of property for department burial purposes, was received from Colburn Barrel and wife and ordered on file. The thanks of the department were tendered to the donors.

Cellars and Basements. — Bad air from basements is a fruitful cause of cholera. The following mode of ventilation is simple: Open a hole in the bottom, or as near the bottom as may be convenient, in your kitchen chimney, say about one foot square. This will ventilate your basement thoroughly and prevent the bad air rising to the rooms above. To ventilate your drains, cess-pools or vaults, connect them by a three inch iron pipe with any chimney, that in which there is a fire being the best.

Cargo of the Sam Merritt. — Our statement yesterday was erroneous, with regard to the consignments of the bark Sam Merritt. But 500 kegs sugar were credited to Messrs. McCraken, Merrill & Co. It should have appeared that 600 kegs and bags of sugar and 194 bales of [illegible] were consigned to that firm. Much of this sugar is of a very superior quality, and the entire lot will be disposed of at the lowest rates. The attention of the trade is directed to the advertisement of Messrs. McCraken, Merrill & Co. regarding the stock.

The Honolulu Packets. — We have information regarding the movement of the packets between Oregon and Honolulu. The [illegible] Eldorado arrived there from Portland on the 12th of May and would sail on the return voyage June 10th. The bark Ethan Allen arrived at Honolulu on the 14th of June.

Joseph McDonald. — This man, who was arrested as [illegible], the murderer and retained in prison for some time at Sacramento, has returned to Idaho and resumed his old occupation as a miner. His friends at Centerville gave him a grand reception.

Larceny. — Orin Heatz was held to answer upon examination before Judge Hoff on yesterday for picking the pocket of a man named Nichols, who was drunk or asleep at a saloon on Front street.

Fire Alarm. — The department were brought out in double quick yesterday morning [illegible] an alarm which was occasioned by the accidental burning of coal tar on First street, where the Nicolson pavement is being put down.

[illegible] — W. J. Henderson, late of the volunteer service, has been appointed a Lieutenancy in the 1st United States Cavalry. He passed through the city yesterday to take his position at Fort Vancouver.

The First Trial. — The steamer of Multnomah Company No. 2 was out on the street for the first trial last evening. The whistle tooted [illegible]

The Water. — A decrease of the swell was indicated yesterday amounting to about five inches.

Hats. — Those hats called Sea [illegible] Marguirates and a number of other styles [illegible] received per last steamer by Mrs. J. Loryea, Milliner, North west corner of Sixth and Stark streets.

[illegible] Fragrant Sozodont [illegible] will [illegible] that are brushed daily with [illegible] It cools [illegible] floral fragrance [illegible] as well as [illegible] to the teeth from corrosion and [illegible]

Coughs. — The [illegible] in the form of a [illegible] and soothing [illegible] the "Brown's Bronchial Troches" [illegible] or Lozenges [illegible] this irritation which [illegible] relief in Bronchitis, Hoarseness [illegible] and Consumptive and Asthmatic [illegible]

Dusseldorf. — Ellsworth & Cardwell have just received information that the proprietors of the Dusseldorf Academy, New York, are selling off their [illegible] pictures. The CARD PHOTOGRAPHS at the GALLERY ON FIRST ST. in this city, as well as the SUN PEARLS and other specimens are fully equal to those of the above celebrated Academy, to which the public attention is [illegible] invited.

The reason why so many die with Consumption is because they neglect to use the proper remedy in season. When the system is first attacked with a cough, oppression of the chest, or seated pains in the breast, ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will cause the phlegm to raise, heals the irritated parts and restores the system to health. For sale by

SMITH & DAVIS, Agents,
Portland, Oregon.

Also, by the Dealers in Family Medicines, generally.

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. — These Bitters are universally acknowledged to be a sure preventive and cure for Fever and Ague, Flatulence, Heaviness of the Stomach, or any other like affection. Their effect upon the system is most miraculous; they give a healthy tone to the system, relieve all morbid matter, and in fact thoroughly cleanse the system from all impurities. In no case has it been known to fail, but on the contrary, new virtues have been found in its use. To those afflicted with any of the above ills, the Bitters are offered as a speedy and certain cure. Try them and form your own opinion. — Sold by Druggists and dealers everywhere. my20 HODGE, CALEF & Co., 97 Front St.

GREAT SAVING IN DRESSMAKING.

MRS. CURTIS'

FIRST PREMIUM MODELS.

BY THEM A LADY CAN IN A FEW MINUTES shape any article of wearing apparel, including Gored Dress, Basquine, Sack, Cloak, etc., so as to fit perfectly without trying on. Unlike any other this system is mathematically perfect, hence it removes all anxiety regarding the fit of a Dress. It is not only exact but so clear and simple that any person can learn it in an hour to cut any garment, either for Ladies, Boys or Girls.

These Models have been tested by a very large number of Ladies, and by the best Dressmakers in San Francisco and other places, and all are delighted with them.

Applications for instruction addressed to MISS PARROT, on north side of Alder street, between Third and Fourth, will receive prompt attention.

Models supplied gratis to those taking instruction and Fashionable Patterns, separately, if desired.

HOSTETTER'S

CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS

READ AND REFLECT.

Make sure of Health — But how? you ask;
We answer — 'tis an easy task:
Strengthen the STOMACH and sustain
The NERVES, the servants of the brain;
The LIVER keep in active play
And regulate from day to day
Each organ all on Nature's plan;
Brace and refresh the INNER MAN;
And like a watch that's kept in clime
By constant care, with rail and time
The system's tone and strength renew,
And thereby cheer the spirits, too.
"How," you inquire, "can this be done?
This Victory o'er Disease be won?"
"Hostetter's Bitters," we reply:
Is Health's supreme protection — try!

As a means of regenerating the disordered and enfeebled system, regulating every function of the internal organs, reviving the depressed spirits, invigorating the constitution, and prolonging life, no medicinal preparation either of the past or the present time has been so completely and universally successful as

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS

Against the vapors foul prepare
That fever taint the heavy air,
Drink not unmixed the water found
In prairies, woods or marshy ground;
If sedentary toil you ply,
Nature you must assist — or die —
For when debarred from exercise
For artificial aid she cries.
Medicine's grand purpose and intent
Is threatened evil to prevent;
And if you'd be relieved or spared
From ills that crush the unprepared,
Hostetter's Bitters use — for note
They are the SUREST ANTIDOTE.

To set at defiance the miasma of unhealthy soils, the poison of unwholesome water, the effluvia of crowded work rooms and factories, and the baneful influence of sedentary employments, it is only necessary to be fore armed with

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.

Dyspepsia's pangs, that rack and grind
The body, and depress the mind;
Agues, that as they go and come
Make life a constant martyrdom;
Colics and dysenteric pains,
'Neath which the strong man's vigor wanes;
Bilious complaints, those tedious ills
No'er conquered yet by drastic pills;
Dread diarrhoea that cannot be
Cured by destructive mercury;
Slow constitutional decay
That brings Death nearer day by day;
Nervous prostration, mental gloom —
Heralds of madness or the tomb;
For these — though mineral nostrums fail —
Means of Relief at least will avail,
HOSTETTER'S BITTERS — medicine sure
Not to prevent alone, but cure.

In dyspepsia, fever and ague, bilious complaints, constitutional and nervous debility, constipation, sea-sickness, spasms, and in all complaints of man or woman proceeding from casual or inherent weakness of the body, the one great remedy and restorative is

And tillers of wet, marshy ground;
To feeble wives of fragile mold;
To young and middle aged and old;
To those in health, who would enjoy
Heaven's best gifts without alloy;
To all the strengthless, weak and pale,
Who droop, yet know not what they ail,
Hostetter's Bitters we present
As Health's most potent element.

An Appeal to Congress

IN BEHALF OF THE NORTHWEST, IN CONNECTION WITH THE CONSTRUCTION OF THE NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD

To the Senators and Representatives of the Congress of the United States:

GENTLEMEN:—The undersigned members of the Senate and House of Representatives from the States and Territories through which the line of Northern Pacific Railroad and Telegraph is proposed to run, knowing the deep and vital interest which the people of our respective localities take in its construction, feel ourselves justified in addressing you in this manner. Our purpose is not only to show the necessity for the construction of the road, which has been acknowledged by the granting of the original charter, but that a like necessity exists for the immediate prosecution of the work and for granting that by the General Government, which is asked of Congress in the bill reported to the House of Representatives by the Hon. Mr. Price on the 21st day of March, 1866.

The original charter of July, 1864, granted the right of way, and made donations of the public lands to aid in constructing the proposed road and telegraph from Lake Superior to Puget Sound on the Pacific, with a branch to Portland, Oregon.

Nothing is of greater importance to the nation than the early development of the resources of the public domain in the interior of the continent. Much of the territory of the Northwest is practically waste and unprofitable to the Government, for the want of such facilities for intercourse with, and transportation to, the commercial centres of the country as this road would furnish. Whole districts of rich and inviting soil, filled with all the natural elements of wealth, and blessed with a temperate and genial climate, are cut off from development by reason of this want. Here and there the frontiersman and miner have braved these difficulties, and among the rugged mountains, and in the depths of the wilderness, have, by their success, shown the value of the country, but no general improvement can be looked for until the facilities for transportation and intercommunication shall have been multiplied and cheapened. Lands now unprofitable, because inaccessible, will be peopled by millions by the building of this road, and the agricultural and pastoral wealth of the country will only be exceeded by the production of the precious metals, which are even now promising the richest yield known to our golden resources.

No pen can describe the contrast between those regions as they are now, and as they will be when this road shall be completed. A miniature representation of it might be realized by those familiar with the condition of the interior of Illinois before and since the completion of the great Central Railroad of that State. There scores of miles were wholly unsettled and unbroken—not the cabin of a settler to obstruct the view—the lands by hundreds of thousands of acres were in market at a shilling an acre and no purchasers to be found; for it cost more to carry the products to market than could be realized for them. Now, those regions are teeming with an active, intelligent, industrious population; their products materially aided in feeding our armies and the whole nation during the recent rebellion, and at this time are supplying the almost infinite wants of those sections that are devastated and desolated by the war.

The single Express line of Wells, Fargo & Co. has transported from the Columbia river to San Francisco, coming from our North-western mines, during the past two years, twelve millions of dollars in gold and silver. While the population of Montana, which, as a Territory, has hardly found a place on the map of the country, is not officially known, the returns of internal revenue for the past year show that it pays the largest tax of any of our national territories, and an estimate of two millions of treasure per month will no doubt be short of the actual amount which she sends forth to quicken the commercial pulse of the nation.

From statistics furnished by the Treasury Department it is estimated that Montana, Idaho, Oregon, and Washington Territory, have yielded $35,000,000 during the past year.

The marvellous growth of the States and Territories (embracing 653,214,000 acres) along this line would indicate a future of rapid expansion and development. The increase of the population of this section from 240,127 in 1860 to 550,000 in 1865, with no highways save those formed by nature, and no stimulus aside from that afforded by the character of the soil and the mineral discoveries, give ample assurance of a continued accession of inhabitants, and a rapid increase of taxable property and Internal Revenue.

The communities to which we refer are so situated that no other existing or projected line of thoroughfare can accommodate them. The valley of the Upper Missouri can never be supplied by any connection with the great Union Pacific line, because mountain ranges intervene.

Western Minnesota and the Territories of Dakota and Montana are so situated that their railroad facilities must be by the line of this road, or they can have none. Northern Idaho, and all of Oregon and Washington lying east of the Cascade mountains, are equally isolated. In fact the inhabitants of the whole valley of the Upper Columbia can only reach tide-water by the line of this road. We affirm, therefore, that to open and develop this vast region is the duty of the nation. To fill it with an industrious population and to draw forth its treasures for the common benefit, is the duty of the statesman to his country as well as to the locality more directly benefited. Build about three hundred miles of this road, to connect the waters of the Missouri and the Columbia, and you bring St. Louis into steam communication with the Pacific. Build seven hundred miles between Lake Superior and the Northern bank of the Upper Missouri, and the Great Lakes will be anchored by a line of steam to the pillars of the Golden Gate.

Steamers now run to Fort Benton, on the Missouri; from Fort Benton to the nearest point navigated by steam on Clark's fork of the Columbia, via Helena, is about three hundred miles. On Clark's fork and Pen 'd Oreille lake, there is perfect navigation for one hundred and ten miles. From Pen 'd Oreille lake to the head of navigation on the Columbia, the distance is one hundred and fifty miles. A railway of fifty miles to White Bluffs, on the main Columbia, lands us upon the regular line of the Oregon Steam Navigation Company, and transit by steam to the sea, six hundred miles, is continuous. Thus a few hundred miles of road on this line would place the two shores of the continent in direct steam communication with each other. It is true the navigation of these waters is often interrupted, and during winter, especially on the Missouri, suspended; yet their importance in supplying the country and aiding in the rapid building of the road itself, cannot be well overstated. The argument which we wish to press upon your attention is, that it will bring the two oceans together, in the briefest time, and develop a vast region along our northern frontier of incalculable value and wealth, which without it will lie dormant and worthless for years to come. It enters into competition with no other route projected. Its nearest approach to the great Central route will not be less than six hundred miles, while its western terminus is nearly one thousand miles from the bay of San Francisco.

Puget Sound is marked out by Nature as a future entrepot of the first commercial importance. By the completion of this road it will virtually come under the control of the United States, with all its advantages for naval strength and commercial growth. Its abandonment by us would relinquish it to Great Britain, which already has a large and increasing trade in these waters.

The people of Montana now receive their goods from the States by a land journey of 1,800, via Salt Lake, or from San Francisco up the coast and inland by steamers up the Columbia, and thence by wagons and pack animals through the mountain system, the cost of transportation being from twenty to thirty cents per pound. The distance from Crow Wing, on the Mississippi, a point on the line of this railroad (and which is destined to be connected by rail with New York and the entire Atlantic coast within one year), to Helena, the very centre of the mines of Montana, is 850 miles.

The average cost of all kinds of through freight between Boston and Chicago, by rail, is two cents per pound.

In a letter written by Mr. Langford, Assessor of Montana, to the United States Treasury, in December last, it is stated that the internal revenue assessment for the year 1865 was $100,000, and that he had collected $95,000, a larger amount per capita than was paid by Maine, Vermont, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, or Oregon.

The people of Montana, therefore, while paying their full share of internal revenue, are also paying 1,000 per cent. more than the people of the States for goods.

The cost of a passage to the mines of Montana, is from $300 to $500, according to the route and season selected. The time occupied from New York is from twenty to thirty days. The opening of this railroad would reduce the time to six days, and the cost to $50.

There is another view of this project to which we wish to direct attention. British statesmen have already formed a scheme for confederating the British Provinces of America. British territory spans the continent from the mouth of the St. Lawrence to the Straits of Fuca, and if the British scheme for a railroad on English soil should be first realized, all our American possessions north of the forty-fifth parallel would commercially be transferred to our northern neighbors. Instead of the United States bringing the valleys of the Saskatchewan, and of the Red river, and of the gold fields of Carriboo and Kootenai, in British Columbia, under tribute to American interests, by first constructing this road our whole northern frontier, with its teeming acres and its magazines of mineral wealth, would become a dependency of the two depots of British America—Halifax and Victoria. The mouth of the Columbia and the Straits of Fuca would be practically sealed by British capital and enterprise, and the lakes of the north would become only agents to multiply the wealth of our rivals and assist in our own undoing. It is simply a question of diligence whether we shall, in effect, add the interior of British America to the local wealth of our adjacent territory, or see the latter, with its millions of fertile acres and its golden treasures fastened forever within the iron grasp of British commercial dominion.

The importance of this road as a means of military defence must be apparent at a glance. Located as it is, on our Northern border facing the possessions of the only power whose military strength can ever cause us serious anxiety, it will furnish a ready means of transferring troops and munitions of war, and make us masters, in a military contest, not only of our own exposed territory, but also that of the enemy. In peace it would bring us development, in war, safety and victory.

As to the practicability of the Northern Pacific route, we only say, that while this is a question for the Company, rather than for us, it has been settled beyond doubt by the best surveying and engineering authority. The reports of Stevens and Mullan, and their assistants, and of the Northwestern Boundary Commission, giving the results of years of exploration, conclusively establish the entire feasibility of the enterprise.

There is not a section of the proposed road where the grades equal those of the Baltimore and Ohio, or of the Sierra Nevada section of the Central Pacific. While much of it will be expensive, we are satisfied that there are no obstacles which money and skill cannot surmount. Practical observation has likewise dissipated the objection once urged against this route on account of climate. No portion of it west of St. Paul embraces so cold a climate as that penetrated by the Grand Trunk line of Canada, or the road connecting Moscow with St. Petersburg, in Russia. During the late winter, which has been one of unusual severity, trains of animals loaded with goods, and parties of miners, on foot and on horseback, have been constantly passing from the valleys of the Pacific slope to the mines of Helena, on the waters of the Missouri, thus demonstrating our assertion that there is no force in the objection that the climate forbids the construction of the road.

The observations made during a series of years show that the amount of rain and snow which falls during each year, is only one fifth part as great as the amount falling in Massachusetts or Missouri. The mountain ranges are here depressed, the altitude being some two thousand five hundred feet less than that of the South Pass, through which Union Pacific Railroad is to pass. The average mean temperature at Cantonment Stevens, in the mountains, which is about 3,500 feet above the level of the sea, is the same as at Albany, New York, which is only 140 feet above the sea level.

Professor Loren Blodgett, who perhaps understands the subject of the climatology of the continent as thoroughly as any person now living, sums up an elaborate and comprehensive discussion of the subject of trans-continental railways with the following sentence:

"Generally, I can say with emphasis, that so far as climate is concerned, and the productive capacity of the country depending on climate also, the northern route is really preferable to the middle or central, now being built."

Reference has already been made to the lands granted to the Northern Pacific Railroad Company upon its incorporation. It was supposed at the time that these lands would furnish an ample basis, financially, for the construction of the road; but, after the lapse of nearly two years, it has become apparent that they do not offer any such inducements as will insure the indispensable help of capitalists, either in the United States or in Europe. The value of them is future and contingent, and must come as the result of the construction of the road.

The present activity in every department of enterprise in the United States, and the general preference for permanent investment which is given to government securities, take away from this company any fair prospect of negotiating its stock during the remainder of the interval required for building the road, unless some influence can be brought to bear in its favor, which will impart confidence in its undertaking, and which will give it time to make its lands available.

The plan of the committee, as the undersigned apprehend, still is that the road shall be built upon the basis of the lands. To this end, the bill reported by them recommends that, as fast as sections of twenty-five or more consecutive miles shall be completed, the public credit shall be pledged to the guarantee of the interest upon a certain portion of the stock as, follows:

DISTANCES.

From the eastern point or points of termination to 101st, (estimated)	380 miles.
From 101st to 111th meridian	620 "
From 111th to 119th meridian	520 "
From 119th meridian to the western terminus (estimated)	280 "
	1,800 "

GUARANTEE PER MILE.

380 miles at	$20,000 (principal)	per mile.
620 "	25,000	"	"
520 "	50,000	"	"
280 "	30,000	"	"

Average rate per mile, upon which the guarantee of the Government for interest is to accrue, for 1,800 miles, $31,900.

The bill proposes, therefore, to lend the credit of the Government to the guarantee of the interest upon about fifty-seven millions of the Company's stock, or less than one-half the estimated cost of the entire line, the interest to be payable at the rate of six per cent. per annum for twenty years, but in no event to take effect until the principal shall have been expended upon the line to the satisfaction of commissioners to be appointed by the Government.

For the security of the Government, one-half of the lands with which the Company has been endowed—those lying on the southerly side of the line—are to be set apart to reimburse the Treasury for such payments of interest as it may be called upon to make. The ultimate value of these lands, which the construction of the road will insure, renders them a safe and proper collateral security for the pledge of credit which is recommended by the Committee. That for which the security is to be given can not be called for until a specified portion of the road has been completed; and this itself will stamp the security with a marketable value. Thus the road will be built on the prospective value of the lands—the Government standing as endorser on interest to a limited amount, while this value is appreciating.

The Company's lands amount to forty sections per mile in the Territories, and twenty sections per mile in the States. On the supposition that the latter are worth twice as much as the former, it may be said that the equivalent of twenty sections per mile (on the southerly side) the entire length of the line, is to be set aside for the security of the Government. This gives 12,800 acres per mile, which at $2.50 per acre, amounts to $32,000, about the average sum per mile on which the proposed guarantee is to take effect. Supposing, therefore, that the Company should sell six per cent. annually of these lands, the proceeds of which are to be paid into the Treasury, sixty per cent. would be sold during the ten years of the construction of the road, and this per centage of the whole is believed to be available for sale and for settlement. On this supposition the Government will not come under advances at all.

But, in addition to the lands of the Company which are to be set apart for the security of the Government, the reserved lands of the Government, lying upon both sides of the Northern Pacific Railroad, should be taken into the account. These have no present value, but the building of the road will at once make them marketable, and if the Company shall be able to dispose of six per cent. of its lands annually, equal to the interest guaranteed upon the stock described above, the Government will also be able to sell six per cent. of its lands, or about twice the amount (additional) of the said interest. In this view, by the sale of property which, without the road, cannot for a long time to come be brought into market, the Government will be largely benefited and richly compensated for the use of its credit as provided by the Bill.

The lands of the Company upon the north side of the line will enable it to obtain the rest of the money required by it, if the Government assistance shall be given to the extent now indicated.

The other security proposed by the bill is the payment into the National Treasury of twenty five per cent. of the gross earnings of the road after its completion. The history of some of the most successful railroads in the country exhibits the fact that twenty five per cent. of their gross receipts is equal to their total net earnings. More than this, therefore, cannot be required in the present instance. The Government will be made secure upon the portion of the stock, the interest on which it will guarantee, by probably the total net earnings on the whole stock of the Company, and the stock thus guaranteed must be provided for in full before the holders of stock not guaranteed can receive any dividend whatever. If the line shall earn only three and one-half per cent. upon its capital, the Government will receive the entire amount for which it is proposed to make it responsible.

In addition to the advantages already suggested, it should not be forgotten that the Government, more perhaps than any individual, is deeply concerned in the matter of transportation. In this respect it is a customer to an immense amount annually in the Territories which the Northern Pacific railroad is to traverse. The rates which have been quoted and which the inhabitants of that part of our country have to pay, the Government is obliged to pay also. As an illustration—an extreme one it will be admitted—the Government paid last year in Montana, for a portion of its transportation, $1 77 per 100 pounds per hundred miles, or the enormous sum of $35 40 per ton per hundred miles. There is no doubt whatever that, should the Government fail to receive full reimbursement for such payment of interest as it might make, it would be amply secured against loss by the important saving which would enure to it in the postal service in the transmission of its military supplies, and in those sent by the Commissioner of Indian Affairs.

The increase in the internal revenue, of which mention has already been made, and the importance of immediately settling a territory large enough to constitute half a dozen new and prosperous States in the Union, cannot be estimated. These, however, will be among the results of the completion of the Northern Pacific Railroad.

The bill now under consideration cannot be construed in any way as pledging the Government to the construction of the Northern Pacific Railroad, or as involving it in any responsibility in connection therewith. Nor does it in any sense furnish the capital for the great work, except as its guarantee will enable the Company to go into the money markets of the world and negotiate for it on equitable terms. For every dollar to which the pledge of the Government will be extended, sixteen and two third dollars must, by the terms of the bill, have been specifically advanced and spent by the Company; and as nearly one half of the amount requisite to build the road must be obtained without any Government assistance, both principal and interest, the total amount raised by private enterprise, compared with that promised in the bill, will be about thirty-five to one. This certainly is not calculated to weaken self dependence, or lead individuals to rely unduly upon the Government in the prosecution of great national improvements.

One further consideration should be presented in justice to the Company. The act of incorporation prohibits the mortgage of the road under any circumstance whatever.

The stock is to be open to all the citizens of the country, and they are entitled to subscribe to it on equal terms. Upon the stock thus subscribed for the road must be built, and the rights and privileges of the stockholders, large and small, must be kept inviolate. The Company is deprived, therefore, of the ordinary means by which it has become the usage to provide money for railway construction. While it cannot be denied that the new method is in all respects the more sound and safe of the two, yet, to restrict a company to it, which will have few of the inducements usually held out to offer to those whom it may ask to subscribe to its stock, without giving it some substituted advantage, would seem to be hardly reasonable. If railroads, projected where the population is comparatively dense and wealth abundant, are, almost without exception, obliged to have recourse to bonds, this road which is to pass through an almost entirely new territory, and which is designed to attract population, not to follow it, should enjoy some facility to compensate it for a check like this upon its financial operations. The Government guarantee will afford it a most healthful and legitimate opportunity to obtain its money, and will enable it to demonstrate that a railroad can be, as it always ought to be, built upon its capital stock. Upon this plan the European railroads have been built with entire success, the temporary aid of the Government having been given in many cases, as contemplated in the present instance.

In view of these considerations, the undersigned express the hope that Congress at its present session will take action, as is proposed by the bill referred to, in favor of the Northern Pacific Railroad and Telegraph, and thus impart an impulse to the prosperity of the great Northwest, which will be felt and participated in by every section of the country. They cannot more appropriately close what they have endeavored to express in the present paper, than by quoting the words of the Hon. Secretary of State in a dispatch written by him a few months since in reference to one of the great telegraph lines which are to connect our country with the Old World:

"It seems to me that, in extending dominion over inland mountain regions, and setting up the National Flag on the Pacific coast, the American people, however inconsiderately, assumed the duty of diffusing an equal civilization throughout the whole of the great country which they thus included within their borders. Nor would it be wise to shut out from our thoughts the consideration which necessarily results from contemplating calmly the position and resources of our new Northwestern and Western States. It becomes our duty to act upon the conviction that, from this time henceforth, those States are to perform an important part in a great work which shall make the shores of the Pacific Ocean the home of communities that shall be as busy, as prosperous, as free, as enlightened, as powerful, as happy as those which now cluster on the Atlantic shores. The Atlantic States, by their intermarriage with those of the Pacific, have come under an obligation to favor this great development."

"CONSTITUTION WATER,"
THE ONLY REMEDY FOR DISEASES OF THE BLADDER, KIDNEYS,
Gravel, Dropsical Swellings,
GENITAL DEBILITY, ETC.

THE ASTONISHING SUCCESS WHICH HAS ATtended this invaluable medicine proves it the most valuable one ever discovered. No language can convey an adequate idea of the immediate and almost miraculous change which it occasions in the debilitated and shattered system. In fact it stands unrivalled as a remedy for the permanent cure of the maladies above-mentioned, and also—

DIABETES, IMPOTENCY, LOSS OF MUSCULAR ENERGY,
PHYSICAL PROSTRATION, INDIGESTION,
SEMINAL WEAKNESS,
GLEET, FLUOR ALBUS,

And in every disease in any way connected with the disorder or decay of the PROCREATIVE FUNCTIONS. Persons about to marry, if conscious of any weakness, should take the

CONSTITUTION WATER,

Whether broken down by excess, weak by nature, or impaired by sickness, the unstrung and relaxed organization is at once rebraced, revivified and built up. Well may this celebrated medicine be called the

MEDICAL WONDER.

The stooping, trembling victim of depression and debility becomes a new man; he stands erect, he moves with a firm step; his mind, which was previously sunk in gloom or an almost idiotic apathy, becomes bright and active; and he goes forth regenerated, conscious of new vigor.—The medicine reaches the CONSTITUTION itself, and restores it to its normal condition.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM!
The Remedy for Curing
CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, COLDS, Asthma, Croup,
Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppression of the Chest and Lungs, Difficult Breathing and all the Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

ITS ACTION IS EXPECTORANT, ALTERATIVE, SUDORIFIC, SEDATIVE, DIAPHORETIC AND DIURETIC, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS AND PURIFIES THE BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect, that it is WARRANTED TO BREAK UP THE MOST DISTRESSING COUGH IN A FEW HOURS' TIME, if not of too long standing. IT IS WARRANTED to give entire satisfaction even in the MOST CONFIRMED CASES OF CONSUMPTION! IT IS WARRANTED NOT to produce costiveness (which is the case with most remedies) or affect the head, as it contains no Opium in any form. IT IS WARRANTED TO BE PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although it is an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. THERE IS NO REAL NECESSITY FOR SO MANY DEATHS BY CONSUMPTION, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it if only taken in time.

LEFFEL'S
American Double Turbine Water Wheel

IS NOW MANUFACTURED BY THE OREGON IRON Works, in the city of Portland, and orders for the same can be filled immediately. We have a small supply of the different sizes from 10 inches to 48 inches in diameter. That we may know the proper sized wheel you require, measure your water in the following way: Take the width of the stream, the average depth, and the distance it flows in a minute.

All the wheels now in use give universal satisfaction. Both the construction of the wheel and its performance, commend it to the better judgment of all minds capable of appreciating the highest development of mechanical construction. Therefore it has conquered the most violent opposition.

This wheel is especially adapted to mining purposes. It is light, and can be easily packed into the mountains. Wheels weighing from 100 to 300 pounds will yield from 10 to 40 horse power, under a head of 25 or 30 feet. They are the cheapest wheel to set up known, as they are so arranged as to produce the greatest power possible from the water used.

The prices of those wheels have now been reduced to the ability of all. Come and see them or send for a circular to

THE GREAT ERADICATOR OF SPECIAL COMPLAINTS, FORMERLY OF LOCKE HOSPITAL, LONDON, EIGHT YEARS IN SACRAMENTO, AND THE LAST THREE YEARS IN SAN FRANCISCO.

Experience is of forty years standing, and during that time has met with unparalleled success in the treatment of all those diseases generally known as

Venereal or Chronic,

It is impossible here to mention all the diseases with which he is familiar; some, perhaps, will not be out of place. The most formidable, the most destructive to mankind is Self-Abuse. The brain being the seat of the disease the whole system suffers in consequence. I will here enumerate some of the symptoms, so that those afflicted may be able to form an opinion in regard to their complaints, and seek advice in time, thereby saving themselves a world of suffering: Nervous Debility, Loss of Memory, Pain in the Limbs and Back, [illegible] the Heart, Trembling of the Limbs, Head [illegible] Aversion to Social Society, especially that of [illegible] There are a great many more, but these [illegible] and should you be suffering from any of [illegible] DR. TOZER, and he will cure you in a [illegible] out any interruption in your business—or [illegible] by letter, and there will be no exposure [illegible] at the office.

THAT OLD GREENBACK CASE

am still obliged to accept of Legal Tender Notes
at Par (and have been since Dec 17, 1862) for the rent of
my Handsome Brick
Store, corner of Morrison and Front streets. I feel compelled to announce for the benefit of the public, that

JACOB MAYER

Leased the building of me Feb. 17, 1862, for a term of years, at which time there was no such currency in vogue, and it was understood the terms were Cash. Since the date above stated, I have received the depreciated currency regularly for the rent of the

CITY OF PARIS STORE!

making less than two-fifths of the real amount said Mayer was to pay. He had secured the building at very advantageous rates, and even were he now to comply with his contract and pay in Coin, would be getting the best bargain in the city. I make this statement to show the public what kind of a man he must be to take such undue advantage of the times to convert a few dollars to himself by LEGAL SWINDLING. The public can readily see how much it costs to have such tenants in such costly buildings
as the one referred to above.
